Officials laud rescue efforts

Explosion destroys 3 homes, damages others

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Top officials in Romulus had nothing but praise for city employees following the weekend propane gas explosion which destroyed three homes in the city and damaged four others.

"I commend all the city departments for what they did to help out in this dangerous situation," said Mayor Terry L. Troutt, as work crews began the long clean-up following the early Saturday morning explosion.

Troutt said that members of the Romulus Fire Department fought through the night in an effort to contain the damage caused when a Sun Oil Co. liquid propane gas main ruptured on the south side of Northline Road between Harrison and Inkster roads.

He also credits employees of surrounding communities, and members of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Road Patrol for helping in the situation.

"It's a real tribute to those communities and the employees in them that the damage wasn't more widespread. They worked through the night to save people's lives and property."

Reports from the sheriff indicate that a 1,000-foot fireball exploded to 500 feet in the air from the ruptured gas main at 1:51 a.m. Saturday morning.

During the night, 10 units of the sheriff's patrol, fire units from Taylor, Wayne and Westland and police units from Taylor, Van Buren Township, Inkster and Wayne patrolled the area to evacuate persons from homes in the area and to keep looters from the abandoned structures. Persons evacuated from homes were housed at the Ramada Inn in Romulus by the Sun Oil Co.

Damage estimates are not in, but police reports indicate three homes totally were destroyed and four homes seriously damaged in the blast.

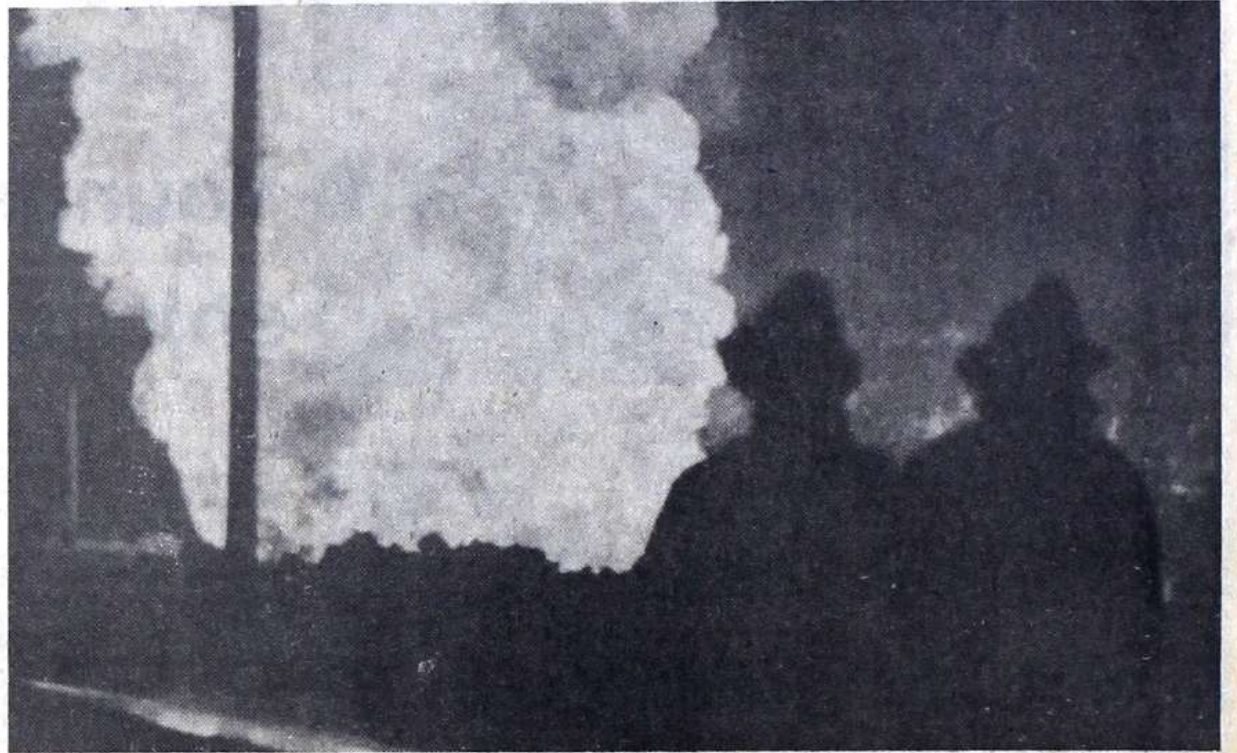

Two citizens were taken to Wayne County General Hospital for treatment of injuries caused by the blaze. Michael Karacson, 11, of 28087 Northline Road, is in fair condition after receiving burns over 12 percent of his body — mostly on the legs. Matilda Frank, 59, of the same address was treated and released.

A third person, Stella Ramsey, 56, is in fair condition at the hospital after suffering a heart attack approximately 45-minutes after the blaze began.

Always ready

Two Romulus firefighters stand at ready as leaking gas from a liquid propane gas line in Romulus burns during the night. Fire fighters from Romulus, Taylor, Wayne and Westland were at the scene most of the night and morning Saturday as the gas burned itself out of a major main connecting a Sun Oil Co. refinery with storage tanks near I-94 and Inkster Road. Two citizens and two fire fighters were hurt in the blaze. Sun Oil officials can give no reason for the explosion.

As we see it

Rec center good for city

- An indoor swimming pool in the City of Romulus for all residents to enjoy.
- Indoor basketball, handball and tennis facilities.
- An ice arena which will allow the many hockey buffs and skaters in the community to stay at home and enjoy the sport at the same time.
- Meeting rooms for teens, senior citizens, clubs and a game room which should bring many citizens together.
- A community recreation center next to none in neighboring communities.

That's what's at stake when Romulus voters go to the polls Tuesday.

The voters will have to decide if a beautiful, versatile recreation facility is worth more taxes to them. It's certain that every Romulus resident would love to see a recreation center in their community, but the question is: "Are they willing to pay for it?"

We certainly hope they are.

Although the image of the Romulus community has grown—and no one would be ashamed of saying "I live in Romulus"—the proposed recreational center would do much to not only boost the image of the city but to tie the community together.

Romulus citizens really would have a facility they could be proud of. It would be a place that every citizen—from the youngest to the oldest—could go to have fun, to meet their neighbors from across the city and develop a happier and healthier life.

A lot of what Mayor Terry L. Troutt and backers of the $5,000,000 general obligation bond issue to construct the recreation center say makes a lot of sense. Sure it's a difficult economic time, but prices on building materials are bound to rise and the sooner the city begins the project the cheaper it'll be.

Estimates by city officials say that the average homeowner will be paying $14.50 more per year to finance the recreational bond issue. And if that estimate holds true, it seems to us that no resident could afford to say no to the recreational bond.

Certainly most residents would be getting more than $14.50 value from the center in a year's time once it is completed.

Opponents of the rec bond issue are saying "hold the line on taxes". That's fine, but if Romulus is to move ahead—if it is to become a city valuable to its residents—the voters must support important proposals for city betterment.

Voters also will be asked for a $9,100,000 general obligation bond issue to pave every unpaved street, including a complete ditching and maintenance project, and paving for private roads if such roads are dedicated to the city.

Paved roads also are very important to a community's wellbeing and advancement.

It is up to the voters to decide if they are willing to spend more of their hard-earned money to make Romulus a nicer place to live.

GREAT EXPERIENCE

Workshop benefits youth, teachers

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

A summer program in the Oakbrook Townhouses in Romulus designed to broaden the horizons of youths in that development also may have helped the teachers.

Earl Cornett, director of a 3-day per week summer workshop designed to serve about 125 youngsters in the Oakbrook development at Middle Belt and Eureka roads, called the recently-completed 8-week program "a great experience for me."

Cornett, 30, of Ann Arbor said: "I think I did a productive thing this summer, in helping kids learn more about themselves and feel good about the things they accomplished. "It turned out to be a rewarding experience."

Cornett, who was a hall monitor and part-time teacher in the Romulus School District last year, was in charge of a program designed by Oakbrook social worker Linda Serafin with the help of youngsters in the townhouse development and the Family and Neighborhood Services in Romulus.

The United Community Service funded the program with $1,600, and the Communities United For Action (CUFA) program established a cold-lunch program for the participants.

"I think this is a unique summer program, because the impetus for it was started with a group of residents and Mrs. Serafin who perceived a need in the development," Cornett said. "The kids here have very little to do during the summer, so the program was designed to help them."

Not a traditional "summer recreation program" designed to keep youths off the streets, the Oakbrook program was established to "offer youngsters who participate in it experiences they never may have had in the past," according to Cornett.

Two days each week, the participants worked on arts and crafts projects in special "clubs" established to suit their needs and on the third day, participants took trips to points of interest in the Metropolitan Detroit area.

"It was a real joy, for instance, to watch the youngsters splash around in the water a few weeks ago, knowing they may not have had the chance during the summer if it weren't for the program," Cornett said. "During the summer we took trips to Silver Lake and Kensington, where the youngsters were able to swim, and others to the Detroit Zoo and the Children's Zoo on Belle Isle."

"I think these sort of trips broadened their experiences, while the crafts programs helped the participants learn the meaning of accomplishment."

Early in the program, the youngsters who participated were asked to consider joining activities

Candidates explain reason for running

Thirteen of the 17 candidates running for the Romulus City Council answered The Romulus Roman's second candidate question as part of the newspaper's continuing coverage of the campaign in Romulus.

Council hopefuls Robert Abley, Fred Junior Block, Lung Coleman, Jerry Dahlstrom, Charlie Harris, Kenneth R. Howington, Joseph R. Kochanosky, Joan A. Lee, Beverly McAnally, John W. Maddish, Robert H. Martin, William M. Oakley and Jack Trumble answered the question: "Why do you seek a seat on the City Council? What are your qualifications for handling legislative affairs for the city? Their responses, handled in alphabetical order, follow.

Abley said he is seeking a seat "to better serve my neighbors" by seeking "a practical approach to the problems of our citizens." He added that he is qualified because he is an "honest and fair thinking individual belonging to no special interest group" whose 13 years of work at United Airlines with the past eight years in public contact will help him get along with the public.

Block, an incumbent, said he is seeking re-election "because I feel that during these times of mistrust for any public official, our residents need reassurance that honesty does exist, and by my efforts to meet this end, confidence will be restored." Block added that he feels his past five years on the council which gave him "the knowledge and understanding to provide additional service demands within existing budget appropriations" qualify him for a seat.

EDITOR'S NOTE: In our effort to provide you with the best possible coverage of the city elections, The Romulus Roman has introduced an issue forum. Each week candidates will be answering issue questions relating to the election and life in Romulus. This week the question was addressed to council candidates. A question for the mayoral candidates was made available at our office at noon today. Answers to the question must be returned in writing to us by noon Monday. As a service to our readers, we are placing the issue forum in this handy clip-out format and suggest voters save the stories for re-reading before going to the polls. Questions about the issue forum should be directed to Editor Lucy Wiesend.

Coleman, another incumbent, said he is seeking re-election "to satisfy a commitment that was made two years ago to put Romulus back in the mainstream" by promoting industrial, recreational and road development in the city. Coleman added that he is qualified because of his past two years of experience and demonstrated performance.

Dahlstrom, a newcomer to politics, said he is seeking a seat on the council because "I enjoy being involved in public service" as demonstrated by his work in organizations as the Kiwanis and Key Club. Dahlstrom added that his age, 21, offers a "fresh approach to city affairs" and that he has learned "team-work" by the City Council is a "sure way to succeed."

Harris, another newcomer, said his three terms as constable of Romulus and eight years as a police officer in the city qualify him for council.

"My reason for seeking the council seat is I feel the city needs my knowledge for the betterment of the people," he added.

Howington, also a newcomer to politics, said he hopes to obtain a seat on the council "because our present council is not doing the job they were elected to do." Howington's qualifications include experience in the Romulus Athletic Club on its advisory committee, work with the Romulus Hockey Association and membership in Masonic Lodge number eight.

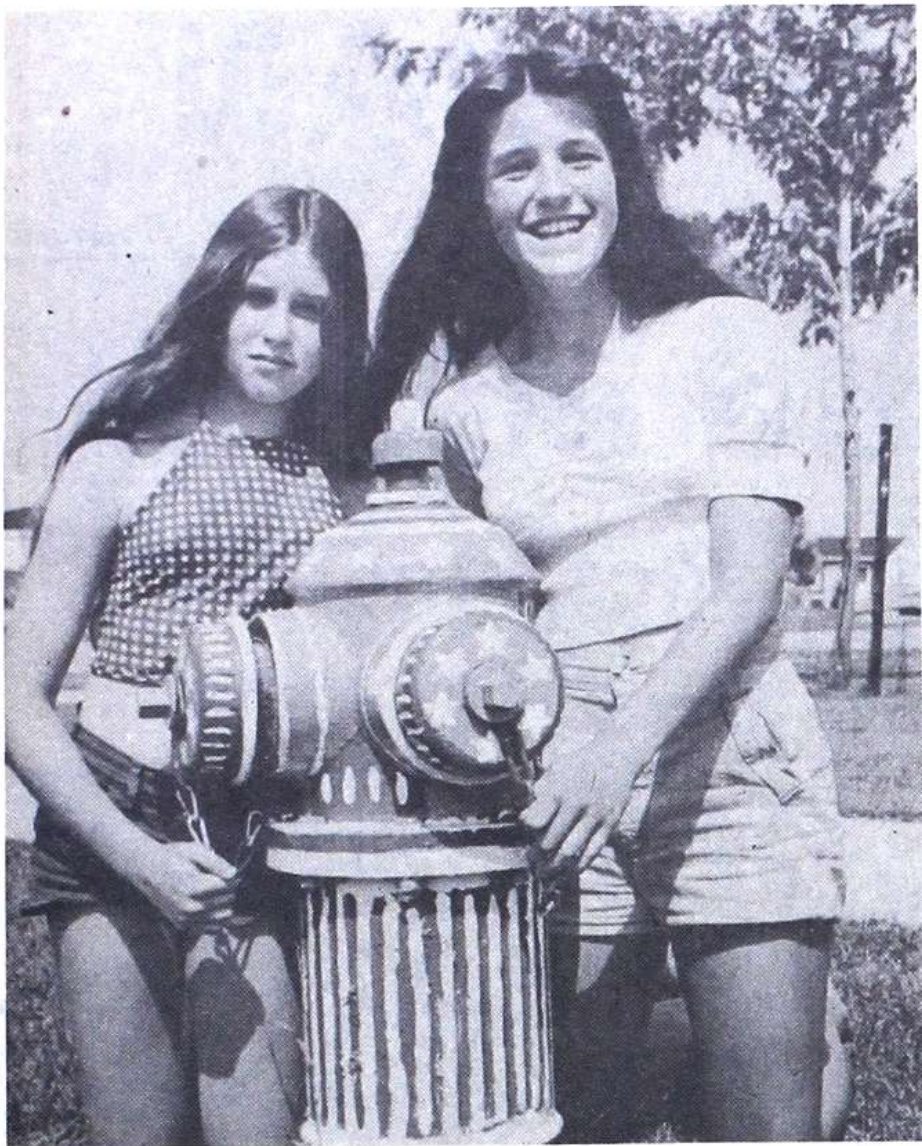

Kochanosky, a newcomer to politics, said he is seeking a council seat because: "I believe I can be of help to the other citizens of our city." He said his 15 years of work in "various supervisory positions" and in management of a small business qualify him for a seat.

Mrs. Lee, a 2-year incumbent, said her qualifications include her past service on the council, her teaching degree from Wayne State University and six years residency in the city. She added that she wants to run again because "much sincerity, devotion and hard work has gone into city programs" such as the Department of Responsive Government, increasing police protection, establishing a liaison with the schools and promoting a monthly public forum with the City Council.

Mrs. McAnally, a 2-year incumbent, said her past service in the community, both in the

To continue work

Road Patrol nets funding

By HENRY CANTIN
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

Continuation of police protection by the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol Division in seven Western Wayne County townships, at least until Nov. 30, has been assured by Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The full board last Thursday approved recommendations, made by both the Public Safety and Means committees, to continue the county-finance police protection until the end of the county's fiscal year Nov. 30.

Continuation of the Road Patrol services will require additional funding of $117,000 which also was approved by the board.

A committee spokesman pointed out that the Road Patrol services could be withdrawn earlier or later, depending on a decision by the Michigan Court of Appeals on an appeal of a lawsuit filed by the townships.

The townships several months ago filed a Circuit Court suit against the Board of Commissioners, following threats by the county to reduce or eliminate the Road Patrol.

The townships involved are Brownstown, Canton, Huron, Northville, Plymouth, Sumner and Van Buren.

The townships contend the county has the legal responsibility to patrol townships in the absence of a township police force.

A 3-member committee of the Board of Commissioners currently is trying to negotiate a cost-sharing package for the Road Patrol protection in the seven townships.

In April the Board of Commissioners approved an appropriation of $467,000 to finance the 24-hour, 7-day a week patrol, covered by the 28-member force.

Youngster, 9, enjoys camp

The nine-year-old daughter of a Romulus couple is among a group of children from Western Wayne County enjoying a very special summer camp — Summer Day Camp sponsored by the Eastern Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Wayne County and the Northwest Regional Program, headquartered in the Cherry Hill School District.

Dawn Taylor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Taylor of Romulus, is involved in a 6-week endeavor that is structured to maintain the gains — physical, mental and social — which the participants have made during the school year in special education programs.

Camp activities include recreation events, table games, arts and crafts, skits, outings into the community and family picnics.

Red Cross Teens and other volunteers also participate in the camp and encourage each child to perform to his or her optimum, a camp spokesman said.

The Eastern Seal Society of Wayne County provides year-round social and recreational activities for adults, occupational therapy, equipment loans and other specialized services. Residents who have physical handicaps and would like to find out about the society can call 722-3055.

Little League banquet planned for Aug. 22

The Romulus North Little League will be holding a banquet Aug. 22 which will feature former Detroit Tiger Norman Cash as its guest speaker.

Tickets for the affair, which will begin at 8 p.m. in the UAW 735 Hall in Ypsilanti, are $5 for adults, $3.25 for children and $1 for players.

Ticket information is available by calling either 941-1196 or 941-5065.

The cost of tickets will pay for a fully-catered meal to be served at the banquet.

Athlete attends meeting

Belleville High School athlete Harold Gable has joined students from throughout the United States in attending the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) Conference at Central University in Kansas.

Gable participates in cross country, swimming and track at Belleville High School.

The 5-day program of "inspiration and perspiration" is one of 28 FCA National Conferences scheduled this summer, involving 10,000 high school, college and pro athletes and coaches and family members.

In addition to "huddle" group discussion, the daily schedule consists of competition in a variety of sports, special events, workouts, coaches clinics and evening assemblies where top sports figures share their Christian faith.

schools and city and as a writer for newspapers which made her more aware of the needs of the city qualified her for the council. She added that she is seeking a council seat because of the "great progress made toward correcting (the poor) image" of Romulus of two years ago and because she believes "I have not lost touch with feelings for the people who depend upon the council to provide services and facilities they cannot provide themselves."

Maddish, a newcomer to politics, said he is running "because the City of Romulus is at a very important crossroad which could mean either progress or collapse of our city's future." He believes he is qualified to handle the council job by "having been part of many civic functions and programs" and his experience of the past. Martin, an unsuccessful candidate for council two years ago, said he is running "to help our new city...return to the public."

Among his qualifications are membership in the Romulus Kiwanis, work on the Recreation Commission, work in the ladies softball league and work in the Romulus Hockey Association and past business and union work, including presidency of Local 998 of the United Paper Workers union, he wrote in answer to The Roman's question.

Oakley, a 5-year-incumbent on the council said he is running "to serve as a pipeline for the residents of Romulus in assuring their feelings are voiced." He believes he is qualified "because I have been a member of the council since cityhood" and that "during that time my awareness of the needs of the city and the feelings of Romulus residents has intensified."
Trumble, a 2-year incumbent, said: "I am seeking re-election to a seat on the council for the purpose of continuing programs already underway, such as parks, master drain plans and road improvements."

Trumble said his qualifications include his "track record of myself and the people I ran with in the last election" such as forming the Department of Responsive Government, parks expansion, road paving, the formation of a Police, Fire and Safety Commission and improvements in the Department of Public Works.

Not answering the questions were council hopefuls Gervasio Canejo, Charles R. Dick Jr., Jimmie C. Raspberry and Oliver Warren.
Voters will go to the polls Sept. 2 to narrow the 17-person council field to 14 candidates, which will run for office in November.

Campaigning continues on bond

Last minute campaigns are underway by proponents and opponents of two bond issues totaling $14.1 million to construct a new recreation center in Romulus and pave virtually every city street.
Mayor Terry L. Troutt, leader of those pushing for the bond issue, said that workers will be on the streets this weekend to leaflet homes in paved subdivisions explaining the benefits of street paving programs in the city to those residents.

"Though the results may not be seen in front of subdivision homes if the $9.1 million bond issue is passed, they will be felt in improved roads throughout the community," Troutt said. "Subdivision residents have to remember they use the roads of Romulus to reach their own homes, and without this bond money, the city will not have matching funds necessary to match county and federal money to obtain improvements to such roads as Eureka and Middlebelt in the near future."

Troutt also took time to clear up what he terms "misinformation" given The Romulus Roman by two women who voiced opposition to the bond issue.
"The impression left was that homeowners in Romulus last year suffered as much as $30 per month increases in taxes," Troutt said. "Nothing could be further from the truth."
"In actuality, the two homeowners quoted in the articles had $30 per year taxes during the past year, and much of that money went to the schools, the county and the county school district," Troutt said.

Richard Campbell, spokesman for a group known as "grassroots" which opposes the plan said his workers would be leafletting the community over the weekend.
"We're concerned about this bond issue, and the increase in taxes it would cause," Campbell said. "But our main concern is that people get out and vote on this, whether they support our contention that it costs too much and is unfair to residents who live on paved streets, or not."

Some 3,000 voters are expected at the polls Aug. 12. City officials will be working in various precincts to answer questions on the bond issues, and to urge residents to get out and vote.

Romulus Jaycees back bonding for rec center

The 60-member Romulus Jaycees organization officially backs a city request of the voters to approve a $5 million bond issue to build a recreation center.
At a recent general membership meeting, the young men's group voted in a two-thirds majority to back the city administration in a proposal to bond for the facility.

"The project was backed because most of the members believed the recreation facility will be of direct benefit to them," said Jaycee President Tom Von Glahn. "A similar motion to back the bonding resolution for road paving failed to pass."

Von Glahn said the relatively rare action was taken under Jaycee by-laws which allow the organization to back "non-political propositions" providing two-thirds of the membership approve of the concept.
"The Jaycees believe the recreation center will be of direct benefit to all persons in the city," Von Glahn added. "And since we believed the issue was so important, we took the stand."

Bell will construct new service center

Construction of a new telephone service center in Romulus to be occupied by Michigan Bell is expected to begin in mid-November.
A single-story building, to be located in the Metroplex Industrial Park at Middlebelt and Ecorse roads, is being planned to house installation and repair crews from Michigan Bell and provide space for 80 service vehicles. An office wing and supply room also will be included in the construction plans.
Haze Wilson, local manager for Michigan Bell, said the building would contain approximately 38,000 square feet at this time but could be expanded later for an additional 20 service vehicles.

The installation and repair crews operating out of this center will serve customers in Romulus and Taylor and in portions of Dearborn Heights, Wayne, Westland, Inkster and Brownstown Township.
The center will be leased by Michigan Bell, Wilson said.

such as art, sewing and embroidery, bicycling, drama, nature study, model car building, sports or chess by taking part in clubs dedicated to each skill.
"Then during the summer they were urged to participate in those activities they enjoyed," Cornett said. "The club work was in the morning and in the afternoon we participated in crafts programs."
Cornett was assisted by adults and teen volunteers who handled teaching chores, studying as they went along during special workshops on Mondays.
The regular program ran Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.
Assistance in purchasing crafts materials, and handling crafts instruction was provided by the Western Wayne County YWCA.

Letters welcomed

There's nothing that makes an editor happier than to open the mail daily and find letters for publication in the letters to the editor column of The Enterprise-Roman. And lately a number of letters have found their way to our door and onto the Editorial page of The Enterprise-Roman.

And, believe me, this editor is elated. For the more response from our readers, the better we like it. To us there is nothing more important than freedom of speech and the press and the availability of a local newspaper for residents to voice their opinions.

But it is necessary, once in a while, to explain our policy for publishing letters.

Readers are invited to send their opinions on events of public interest to the editor of The Enterprise-Roman, Lucy Wiesend, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne 48184. Each letter must include the writer's signature, address and telephone number. Letters which do not include the above criteria will not be published.

Also, being that this is an election year, letters of personal endorsements of or tribute to candidates will not be published. Those endorsements will be included in the newspaper only as paid political advertisements.

Names will be withheld from letters to be published only for good reasons. Those reasons must be included on the letter. The request "do not use my name" is not enough and those letters will be published with names. The editor reserves the right to edit and condense letters.

Schools undertake task

To the editor: The Van Buren Public Schools has undertaken a mammoth task of evaluating all its entering kindergartners and all children six and under who are suspected of having a physical and - or mental problem.

After a rather late notice of approval from the Michigan Department of Education and Wayne County Intermediate Schools, the program was implemented. Notices were sent out to all Van Buren Public School residents and parents who had preregistered their students were telephoned and specific appointments were made.

Every child who attended our preschool clinic was given:

1. The Denver Developmental Screen Test.
2. A vision test.
3. A speech test.
4. A hearing screening test and a complete hearing test if needed.

The results will be given to the kindergarten teachers in the fall and parents of children with special problems will be counseled.

Currently, more than 400 preschool-aged children have been tested and our success has been attributed to cooperation of the parents. It has been super. Most parents have been extremely punctual and courteous enough to call if they couldn't meet their scheduled time. Our sincere thanks to you parents.

Several girls from girl's town have worked eagerly for us in making calls and setting up appointments. They were paid through the Neighborhood Youth Core and we certainly appreciate their help. Without it the program would not have been implemented as quickly.

Our efforts during the summer will be evaluated and recommendations will be made to our board for further programs.

Robert E. Crain

approved a zoning request for the expansion of Belleville Manors Mobile Home Park, adding 88 more units to the park. The vote was 3-4.

In 1974, Van Buren Township Mobile Home Parks were used as an example for a 30-page study which concluded: "It is clear from the magnitude of the net figures that mobile home parks will cost existing citizens of Van Buren Township more than it will yield in revenues."

"The data show a net total township loss of $75,114 per year or a per capita deficit of $41.73 for each new resident."

"If mobile homes are lower cost private housing than other alternatives, we may not want to discourage building of parks. However, the improvement of housing services is a state and nationwide goal whose public costs should perhaps not be incurred locally to the extent that this study indicates they are."

This study is called: The Impact of Community Development on the Public Treasury. A case study of Mobile Home Parks - Report No. 36 September 1974. By Leanna Stiefel, Department of Agricultural Economics, College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Michigan State University.

This is an interesting study and very informative. If interested citizens read this report I'm sure they will have some questions for the board members who voted yes on this zoning proposal.

Residents of Sumpter Township also should be aware of the information in this study, they have more mobile home parks than Van Buren Township has.

Profiles in photography

By Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko

"I just don't know what to call it," said Eagle Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko of his newest Profiles photo. "Everytime I see their sheepish look, I can't help but laugh. These are night animals and they were supposed to be taking their nap. But they are just like all kids, I guess. When I was walking through the woods up north and they saw me, they ran up a tree and looked down at me with this sheepish, guilty look. They just didn't listen to their parents who tell them not to play around in the day but to take a nap. This is almost a once-in-a-lifetime photo. I still laugh, the way they look back at me." And we are sharing that laugh with you, our readers. Lothar just has proven again that his camera eye gives our readers top photos to look at.

THE MICHIGAN BIG STORY

The Enterprise-Roman is committed to bringing the Bicentennial closer to our readers. And as part of that effort, a series, "The Michigan Big Story," will be published weekly. The 76-part series includes topics which contributed to the shaping and direction of the State of Michigan. The impact which this series is certain to have will provide a legacy for future generations of readers as they look back on what we did to celebrate the Bicentennial in Michigan, according to the Michigan Revolution Bicentennial Commission. The series is being prepared by the commission.

DETROIT (OCT. 31, 1776) — A coalition of Indian tribes led by the fabled Pontiac has today ended a siege of Fort Detroit.

The siege, which began six months ago, was unsuccessful because British supplies arrived by river to keep those inside alive.

A trader, inside the Fort during the siege, said that the Indians first tried to take the Fort by surprise.

"The commander was warned ahead of time and the Indian trick didn't work," he said. "The Indians turned on all the English living outside the gate. Not many of them got out alive."

Major Henry Gladwin, 33, commander of the Fort, said that his tactic was to outwit the Indians.

"The Indians out-numbered us," he added. "We started the siege with only 300 regulars. Our best estimate is that Pontiac had more than 800 men."

A local French farmer said many of his neighbors helped the Indians. He added that the English did not understand or appreciate the Indians.

"The British are not like the French," the farmer said. "They do not willingly give gifts to the Indians. They're farmers and want only the Indians' land."

To discuss flying

Old friends meet

Now he has more than 3,600 hours of flying time in jet aircraft and has received many awards along the way, including the DFC with three oak leaf clusters, the Air Medal with 37 oak leaf clusters, the Combat Readiness Medal, the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal and the Vietnam Service Medal.

In discussing his friend, our photographer said: "He has a vital position in the Thunderbirds formation."

Lothar went on to say that as a slot pilot in a 4-plane formation, Roach has to not only watch forward but his wing position to the right and left. "The first plane in the formation has no problems," Lothar said. "The pilot on the right only has his left wing to watch and the pilot on the left only has his right wing to watch. But the slot pilot (middle, rear) has all sides of the plane to watch."

Lothar not only came back from the Thunderbird's recent exhibition up north with a program and brochure about his friend and his team, but also with pictures of the former Romulus man and of himself with his friend. He was proud to have the brochure and program autographed by some of the pilots.

Lothar is proud to have some of the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds as his friends, and prouder still that Captain Doug Roach is from Romulus, a community he loves and an area he has grown close to since he began taking photographs for The Enterprise-Roman more than 20 years ago.

In commenting on his friend, Lothar said: I would be real pleased to have Doug as a son, he is one of the nicest persons I ever have met. "I consider Doug Roach one of the finest young people I have known in my life, and that holds true in the air too — he is one of the finest pilots."

Park vandalism may be solved by 'working' punishment

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has endorsed Commissioner John J. Korney's suggestion that a stint of manual labor might discourage park vandalism.

His colleagues gave Korney's resolution strong endorsement.

The resolution passed at a recent meeting, urges judges to consider sentencing persons convicted of "destructive or disruptive acts" in the county parks to a term of work in the parks. Vandalism and litter in the nine county parks will cost the taxpayers $650,000 this year and tie up park workers who otherwise could be improving park facilities, Korney said.

Commenting on his resolution, Korney said: "We believe that to sentence offenders to work in the parks, repairing other people's destruction and pickup other people's litter, would have a deterrent effect and save the taxpayers some money."

"But this resolution certainly is not an attempt to tell the judges what to do. We realize that circumstances alter cases."

He made his proposal after concluding it is legally and administratively feasible on a basis of informal contacts with judges, law enforcement officials and park administrators.

Main target of the resolution is a growing problem along the 17-mile Edward Hines Drive, according to Ed Mika, parks chief for the Wayne County Road Commission.

Hines Drive runs along the Rouge River from Northville to Ford Road east of Telegraph in Detroit.

Korney introduced his resolution after personally touring Hines Parkway.

"I saw comfort stations stripped of their fixtures, smashed grills and windows, rain shelters stripped of shingles, picnic tables in the river, and what had to be deliberate litter — just flung on the ground," he said.

Among other actions, the Board of Commissioners applied for a $45,000 Federal grant to establish an adult daycare program for senior citizens in "J" Building on the Wayne County General Hospital grounds and for a $47,503 grant to provide an information and referral service for senior citizens in Wayne County.

The commissioners also adopted a resolution urging the Federal government not to slash 1976 funds for neighborhood health centers and Medicaid.

Hold Taxes Down ...
VOTE "NO"
ON BOND ISSUES!

There are 2 sides to every issue. Romulus voters should consider all their needs before voting on Bond Issues for street paving and a new Romulus Civic Center. Do you realize. . .

- A new Recreation Center is being given priority over adequate police and fire protection. How do we effectively protect public and private property from thieves, vandals and fire?
- Many Romulus residents have already paid pavement costs for their property. Is it fair to ask them to share costs on improvement of property for other people, business and industry?
- All taxes are on the increase; city, county, state. Can we afford to add more millage (at this time) that will automatically increase, year after year, due to state equalization...for homeowners as well as business and industry?
- Romulus wants and needs commercial and industrial growth to hold down property taxes. Will the added tax burden of these bond issues discourage the business growth we need?

Shouldn't Romulus go slow and live within a budget that our citizen-taxpayers can afford? Recreation facilities and paved roads are good, but aren't we losing track of priorities? Doesn't a little at a time, as our population and incomes increase, make more sense?

We think the Bond issues for paving public and private roads and a new Recreation Center are irresponsible use of your tax dollars at this time. Rome wasn't built in a couple of years. . .Romulus shouldn't be either!

Some people seem to be endowed with a God given gift of rare and exceptional ability. Achievements seem to come easy for them. The majority of people have to acquire ability through sacrifice, self-discipline, with a look, listen and learn self-analysis — plus hard work.

In dancing, singing, throwing a ball, or something else, ability to do this or that varies in people. Yet, there are certain abilities every normal human being shares in equal amount with everybody else. It is too often an unused ability; to under-promise — and — over-perform. How sad it is that we often see the reverse. All of us also have the ability to get the most out of our endowed or acquired ability. If we would only want to do it. No matter what the endeavor, it is not what we do but how we do it that counts. Regardless of limitations, all of us have abundant ability to use our capacities given to us by God — great or small — and use them for the good of others. Scoffers and skeptics may not believe it, but it is a good way to find the answer to the question of what life is all about.

Electric Warriors 'putting pieces together'

By TOM MOORADIAN
Ent.-Roman Sports Editor

The Electric Warriors are putting the pieces together in the Romulus Women's Softball League.

And Margaret Ayers is one reason. Miss Ayers drilled three hits as the electricians edged Kel-Joys 9-7 for one of its two victories last week.

Needing a come-from-behind rally, the Warriors scored three times in the sixth to turn the tide. Miss Ayers also received help at the plate from Cindy Clark, Alice Verduco and Tina Swazey, each with two hits.

The Kel-Joys received an outstanding hitting performance from Brenda Sparkman, while teammates Sharon Treder and pitcher Judy Brent also looked good at the plate.

Odd Squad spanked Our Gang 28-3 as Bev Yurchak drilled two home runs for the winners. Vicki Szyndlar and Debbie Wilcox each homered once and Joyln DeBuyscher accounted for four hits.

Our Gang's thirst was led by Mary Likovich, Linda Goodman and Judy Martin who each checked in with a hit.

The Buzz Troop went on a scoring rampage to beat the Shakers 23-13. Connie Durham collected two home runs for the Troopers while Diana Williams had a circuit clout.

Joan Adair smashed four hits and Janet Hargrove helped out with three timely safeties.

The Shakers received a stellar effort from Janet Vail who homered and accounted for two other hits. Teammates Kathy Mullen and Rhonda Stakley each tripled.

The Airline Bombers were on target as they destroyed the Seekers 27-10. Janie Slater, Debbie Sanders and Pam Wyzkowski combined for four home runs for the winners while Alice Stratton and Terry Druyow each homered for the losers.

The Spirit of '76 had the winning spirit when they ran up against the Whiz Kids and blanked them 5-0.

Shirley Silvey, Angie Hicks and Jan Kampsen each had two hits, Peggy Summerfield turned in an outstanding defensive game, accounting for 10 outs.

Wayne I and Wayne II were to meet Monday night to decide which team would wear the Connie Mack crown.

of those was a costly three-run double by Ron Reid. Vojtkofsky had a run-scoring single while Greg Pitt doubled for the only other Wayne hit.

Vojtkofsky worked the first four innings, struck out five, walked two and gave up only two hits - singles to Keith Johnson and Mike Michling.

Canfield finished up, pitching no-hit ball the last three frames. He also notched five strikeouts and walked two.

Fater looked good as he caught 13 Wayne batters sleeping and got them on strikeouts. He walked five, but just didn't get any hitting support.

Huron averted a shutout in the seventh inning when it scored its only run in a 4-1 loss to Inkster. Fater again was charged with the loss as he tossed a six-hitter, whiffed 11 but walked seven.

Winning pitcher Reggie Malone was in command all the way and two of the five hits he gave up were to Jeff Gill, who drilled a single and a double. Craig Beatie, Johnson and Terry Suemnick collected the remaining three hits, all were singles.

Duane Lipinski accounted for two of Inkster's six hits. Both were singles. Malone, Chris McCosky, Kerry Ondejko and Lamont Graves each had singles.

Little League sets election for officers

Romulus South Little League has set aside Aug. 14 for its annual election of officers.

The election will be held 7:30 p.m., in the Community Room, City Hall, 11111 S. Wayne Road.

The new officers will serve for the 1975-76 baseball season.

Sports

while Perma Brown, Martha Bowen and Lynn Montgomery erased a serious Rookie threat with a fast double play.

In other action, the Tarantulas outclassed the Kerrettes 11-4 thanks to the hitting of Vickie Branard, Marriann Oaks and Mary Dziedzic who each had three hits for the winners. Kerrettes couldn't find the key hit but it wasn't because of Betty Burns and Anita Pinchem who swatted three hits each. Maria and Melanie Franklin accounted for two apiece.

Euphoria swung its way to a 7-1 victory over the Bleepers as Paula Hudson homered for the victors and Maggie Abdo and Carol Steingasser combined for five hits.

Nancy Fox came up with an unassisted double play for the winners.

The Bleepers' best came in the form of Pam Greene, Dee Dee Pate and Sue Redmond who each had a couple of hits.

The Foul Balls edged the New Streakers 7-6 with Cathy Latarte's decisive single scoring the winning run. Dawn Silva homered for the Streakers while Cathy Demitroff and Debbie Seward also had a good day at the plate.

Baseball bubble bursts for Huron in C. Mack

Huron's baseball bubble in the Wayne Class D League burst as Wayne II and Inkster handed Coach Ron Smith's ball club a couple of convincing setbacks.

Wayne II, knocked out of first place by Huron earlier in the campaign, avenged the loss 6-1 as Bob Vojtkofsky and Don Canfield combined on a 2-hitter.

Huron tied the game at 1-all in the top of the third, but Wayne broke the deadlock in the bottom of the inning and led the rest of the way.

Huron's Lonnie Fater gave up three hits, but one

by Jr. Kosin

Frequent washing with warm or cold water is the best way to preserve your car's finish. Wiping with dry cloths can do more harm than good. Grit can be very abrasive to the strongest finish. Be sure that you remove all the dirt from joints and crevices, and flush the whole car with plenty of fresh water. An application of liquid or paste wax forms a thin barrier which will protect the finished surface of your car as well.

Protect your car's engine by keeping it well tuned and free of carbon and dirt particles. At KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, we have a huge inventory of all parts and accessories for foreign and domestic cars. We also carry all the tools you need to do any job on your engine or car's body. Our experienced and knowledgeable personnel will be happy to help you select the proper parts for your car. Known as the "House of a Million Parts", we have everything to keep your car, American or foreign, running and looking at its best. Call us at 563-3894. How to have a great family vacation without going too far.

Stay right in your own backyard. Chances are, there are plenty of exciting things to do as a family that aren't that far away. Like visiting a national park. Go fishing. Or camping. Or taking a short trip to the nearest big city or point of interest. And remember. If you're a little short of money for your vacation, see HFC about a Traveloan. You may borrow up to $1500 from Household Finance to pay for your next family vacation. And that'll go a long way. Even if you don't.

To keep costs down

Edison tests energy controls

Western Wayne County residents may find that the operation of air conditioners and heating units may be out of their control, if a study being conducted by the Detroit Edison Co. proves fruitful.

Edison plans of a study which involves the use of an innovative concept, designed to assure a reliable supply of electrical energy and assist in keeping costs at the lowest possible level for its customers.

The pilot project involves controlling electricity use with radio signals, a concept which is receiving wide attention not only in technical areas but the public media as well.

In announcing the project, John R. Hamann, president and chief operating officer, said the study is part of Detroit Edison's continuing commitment to research and efficient planning.

Hamann said the test, involving the remote control of air conditioners, if proven successful, could have considerable impact on efforts to reduce electric energy use during peak hours.

"As consumers well know, the extremely high costs of building new plants have contributed greatly to the increase in energy rates," he added. "We hope such a system would provide us with means to lower electrical demand in the summer, reducing our company's generating requirements and leading to more economical energy for our customers."

The test, which began July 1, ultimately will involve 50 residential and several commercial customers. Participation is on a voluntary basis.

Using specially installed meters and control devices, central air conditioners are turned off for 10 to 20 minutes every hour for no more than five consecutive hours. They are controlled by radio receivers which open up the wiring on the thermostats.

"Not only could such a system reduce our future generation requirements, but in emergencies or power shortages we would be able to turn off all air conditioning rather than implement rotational outages which might affect jobs and cause inconvenient and undesirable brownouts," Hamann said.

The company does not anticipate that its customers will notice a difference in comfort level as a result of air conditioners being turned off for brief periods and the test to date has borne this out. Studies will continue until mid-September.

Students net scholarships

To combat recession

Smith pushes for bill

Wayne County Commissioner Royce Smith of Belleville was among county officials who recently urged Congress to pass swiftly anti-recession bills.

Smith was joined by Jim Curran, director of program development of Wayne County in meeting with congressional leaders during a visit by the National Association of Counties (NACo) Urban Affairs Committee.

They told Senators that counties hardest hit by the recession are caught between eroding avenues and increased needs for human services.

The NACo committee is composed of officials of the 40 largest counties in the U.S. with populations exceeding one million and or a budget in excess of $2 million.

Officials said the federal government is the only source of help in this financial crunch, adding that local tax increases would thwart economic recovery goals.

Early settlers' descendants hold reunions

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Summertime and especially July and August are the traditional times for family reunions; those yearly events when the clan catches up with what each other has been up to for the past 12 months.

Two recent get-togethers were held at area parks, those of long established community families—the Rigges and the Birds.

The Riggs group chalked up its 102nd annual meeting with a picnic at Lakeside Park in Ypsilanti Township July 27.

Some 63 members were present as well as guests from various cities in Michigan and the state of California. During the business session, James Edward Smith, the 1-month old son of Richard and Phyllis Smith of Belleville, was found to be the youngest present.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were Richard Smith, president; Tom Willoughby, vice-president; and Jean Flavell of Belleville, secretary and treasurer.

Birds congregate

Descendants of Richard and Nancy Bird, who settled in the Romulus area in the 1830s, were 137 strong when they recently gathered at Van Buren Park. The outing marked three-quarters of a century of reunions for the group which came from California, Ohio and throughout the state of Michigan.

Members shared a pot luck dinner and afternoon of games with honors for the eldest going to Mrs. Henry Bird of Royal Oak.

Those elected to office for the following year include three area men: Terrell Bird and Bernard Bird, both of Romulus, who will take on the duties of president and treasurer, respectively, and Merrill Bird of Belleville, the new secretary. A Saline man, Weldon Emerson, is vice-president.

Two showers for Sherry

With her wedding date just a few short days away, Sherry Humm has been busy with the delightful task of being "guest of honor" at two recent pre-nuptial parties.

The first was given July 29 by Sue Latimer and Yvonne Craig, neighbors of the Humm's in Farmington Hills. The 19 guests included the prospective bridegroom's mother Dorothy Skszek, and sister Karen Mida, both of Belleville. A couple games were played and despite the outcome, everyone went home a winner. For refreshments, the hostesses set up a buffet salad bar complete with assorted breads.

When Sherry opened her gifts, which were placed beneath a blue parasol, she was assisted with the ribbons and wrappings by her three sisters, Tammy, Gail and Bonnie.

Five days later, the bride-elect was the star attraction at another miscellaneous shower held at the Belleville home of Dorothy Skszek. Co-hosting the afternoon party was her daughter, Karen Mida, and giving the honoree a hand with her gifts was 5-year old Susan Duda, cousin of the future groom, Tim Skszek.

A full course dinner was served to 25 guests from Kinde, Bad Axe, Detroit, Royal Oak and Belleville.

Each person was sent an index card and asked to bring her favorite recipe. Following bingo games, Sherry was then asked to choose the recipe she thought Tim would like the best; the one she, herself, preferred, and the dish she thought she would probably use most often. Those culinary contributors were awarded special prizes of house plants.

In carrying out the blue and white color scheme of the wedding, Mrs. Skszek made and decorated a special bride doll cake which served as centerpiece at the buffet table. Sherry and Tim have reserved the United Presbyterian Church in Farmington for their Aug. 16 wedding.

Sisters reunited

It's been a week of looking back and "remembering when" for two sisters who've not been together for more than 10 years. Nora Hall of Romulus was at Detroit Metropolitan Airport July 23 to meet the plane which brought her younger sister, Caroline McPherson, from Santa Clara, Calif.

Mrs. McPherson and her husband, John, have been out of the country most of that time and the two just never seemed to be able to make connections. It was due to a business trip to Lansing for her husband that the visit to Michigan was possible. So while he was negotiating in the state capitol, his wife was being wined and dined by her family.

Arriving the following Saturday for a day-long picnic were the women's nieces and nephews and the hostess' daughter and son-in-law, Donna and Joe Billings of Mt. Pleasant. Driving in with them were the Tom Fosters of Midland. Others adding their "hellos" were the Bobbie Schotzs of Dearborn and the Wiley Brewsters of Livonia.

HITS THE SPOT! — This "Hearty Luncheon Salad" becomes the star of the meal. It's a delicious full bodied combination of ingredients perfectly blended with a special packaged salad dressing mix. Add a few crackers or rolls plus a simple dessert and you've a super summer meal.

Summertime is salad time

Serving a crowd these days can be a fun challenge when you combine a few basic ingredients — a little imagination — a little budget — and a spectacular salad! This is the formula for this main course "Hearty Luncheon Salad" that will become a mainstay for easy luncheon or supper entrees.

This zesty salad combines macaroni, ham, vegetables, and cheese, complemented by a garlic or cheese garlic salad dressing mix. Before adding the other ingredients, the cooked macaroni is combined with part of the prepared salad dressing and allowed to chill a while to bring out the full flavor of this perfect blend of herbs and seasonings. Serve on a bed of crisp, fresh salad greens and garnish with wedges of hard-cooked eggs and strips of green pepper.

Set up a cheese board with assorted crackers, rally round the table, and dig in!

- Hearty Luncheon Salad
- 2 cups elbow macaroni
 - 3 quarts (about) boiling salted water
 - ¾ cup prepared garlic or cheese garlic salad dressing
 - ¼ cup mayonnaise
 - 1½ cups sliced celery
 - ½ cup grated carrot
 - ¾ cup sliced radishes
 - 1 medium green pepper, chopped
 - 1 small onion, sliced
 - 3 medium tomatoes, cut in eighths
 - ½ pound sliced boiled ham, diced
 - ½ pound sliced process American cheese, diced

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water in large saucepan until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain well. Add ½ cup of the salad dressing and chill several hours or overnight. Combine remaining salad dressing and the mayonnaise; chill.

Just before serving, add the vegetables, ham, cheese, and the mayonnaise mixture to the macaroni; toss lightly.

Serve on crisp salad greens. Garnish with hard cooked egg wedges and green pepper strips, if desired. Makes 3½ quarts or 8 entree salads.

Deerings return from tour of seven European countries

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering recently returned from a 3-weeks vacation in Europe. They were part of the Discovery Tour conducted by The Rev. Robert W. Boley, Methodist minister in Adrian, who had 36 other members in his group.

Highlights of their visit to seven countries included the Grand Place with its old world charm in Brussels, the Louvre in Paris and Lucerne and Engelberg and the Aarberg Pass in Switzerland. Still others spots to remember were Vaduz in Liechtenstein; Mozart's birthplace; buildings dating to the 12th, 13th and 14th centuries in Salzburg; the homes of Strauss, Haydn, Schubert and Brahms in Vienna plus a tour through the Schonbrunn Palace.

They enjoyed guided tours in both East and West Berlin and a ride through the Black Forest of Germany. A ferry boat took them to Copenhagen, Denmark where they saw the statue of the Little Mermaid made famous by the Hans Christian Anderson story. At nighttime they took in the food, lights and music of Tivoli Park.

The trip concluded with two days in Amsterdam, a visit to the home of Anne Frank and an evening boat trip on the canals. A farewell dinner was held at the Five Flies Grillroom, a house which dates back to 1627 which is furnished with antiques and visited by many celebrities each year.

Prior to departure on Finnair Lines, the Deerings were guests of honor at a bon voyage dinner at Haab's in Ypsilanti. Sending them off were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dann of Saline, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Kobish of Addison.

Chapel wedding followed by honeymoon in South

Two recent graduates of the University of Michigan, Loretta Anita Antonczak and Ronald Craig Parsons, exchanged marriage vows during a summer ceremony at Holy Trinity Chapel on the campus of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti. Some 200 relatives and friends witnessed the 5 p.m. rite conducted by The Rev. Peter Daugherty.

An arrangement of white, yellow, pink and orange blooms adorned the altar for the double-ring service. Ron Fracker was organist and Rick Fracker the soloist.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Tadeus Antonczak of 20879 Sunset, Warren, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Parsons of 6215 Rawsonville Road, Belleville.

The bride's brother, Daniel John Antonczak, came from Los Angeles, Calif., to escort her to the sanctuary. For her wedding day, Loretta chose a toe-touching gown designed in the empire mode. The A-line dress featured a high ruffled neckline and bodice accented with Venise lace. Her long sheer sleeves terminated in wide cuffs of matching lace.

Securing her full-length illusion veil was a crescent cap of sata peau frosted with clusters of seed pearls and lace.

Preceding the bride up the aisle in pastel colored frocks was a trio of attendants. Susan Kaye Taffanelli of Warren as maid of honor donned an apricot empire style dress with a small jacket covering the sleeveless bodice. Complimenting the voile creation was a white picture hat traced with apricot ribbon and nosegay of white baby carnations and yellow sweetheart roses.

Two sorority sisters were bridesmaids. Marianne Machala of St. Clair Shores was in mint green and Jan Grode of Detroit in lilac.

Flowergirl in a pale blue version of the senior attendants' gowns was 9-year old Melinda Parsons, the daughter of the George Parsons and a cousin of the bridegroom.

Farley Parsons of Ypsilanti was asked to be his cousin's best man. Others on the esquire side were Dick Flavell of Belleville; La Verne Davenport of DeWitt, Mich. and John Petrasky of Belleville. Orchid corsages were presented to the bride's sister-in-law, Cher Antonczak, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Parsons. For the occasion, the former wore a floor length rose-colored gown with a pink scarf gathered at the neck. Mrs. Parsons chose to wear a pale blue chiffon A-line gown with a matching over jacket.

Following their wedding reception at the Ypsilanti Armory, the newlyweds departed for a day at Niagara Falls and two weeks at Norris Lake in Tennessee. They now are residing at 1738 Murfin, Apt. 24, Ann Arbor.

The new Mrs. Parsons, who is employed at University Hospital in Ann Arbor, earned her bachelor of science degree in nursing at the University of Michigan (UM) School of Nursing. She is a past president of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and also was affiliated with Sigma Theta Tau nursing honorary.

Her husband holds a bachelor of science degree in computer engineering and currently is working at Cooley Laboratory at UM. While at the university he was a member of the Michigan Marching Band and the Men's Glee Club. His fraternity affiliations include Cho Psi and Tau Beta Pi engineering honorary. parents hosted the rehearsal party at their home on Rawsonville Road

Money's the subject in Hailey's new novel

Arthur Hailey, the "Airport" man, writes the type of book with which people can identify. But better still, he picks subjects that have everyday meanings to the work-a-day populace.

At sometime or other, almost everyone has to visit an airport, has stayed at a hotel (another of his themes), has been diagnosed for some ailment or other (still another of his topics) and now he hits on a matter which no one can do without — money.

The monetary issue is wrapped around the characters in a giant bank and give an insight to the workings behind the scenes.

The author is just one of many familiar names which are alphabetized at the Belleville Public Library at 167 Fourth Street.

There's Kazan, for instance, and Drury, Creasey and Lofts and that always popular mystery writer, Agatha Christie. Like Jessamyn West? She's there, too, with a new novel as is Borden Deal and one of the real greats, Caldwell Taylor.

Take your time and make your own choice, though, since some of the better works are by the lesser knowns. Last week, for example, we brought home a book simply because the synopsis on the card sounded like our kind of reading and it was a hard one to put down: "Stranger at the Gates" by Evelyn Anthony which is another Nazi-occupation-of-France revelation.

Your library is just too good a place to pass up and since it's so conveniently located (right in the heart of the city), there's no reason you can't load yourself up with dozens of different writings be it fiction, biography, kiddies books, cooking manuals, travel tomes, everything!

FICTION
"The Moneychangers" by Arthur Hailey. A novel about the inside operation of a giant bank, concerning the in-fighting for control and a devastating financial crisis precipitated by high level corruption.

"The Understudy" by Elia Kazan. Explores the complex relationships between a successful actor, dying of cancer and drug abuse, and his understudy.

"The Promise of Joy" by Allen Drury. A novel about a strong president who is threatened with impeachment for his stand against the Communists who are supporting war against the U.S. in Gorotoland and Panama, ending with his being asked to mediate between Russia and China, who are on the verge of nuclear war.

"This Man Did I Kill?" by John Creasey. Tormented by self doubts and an unhappy marriage, a woman tries suicide. As Dr. Cellini examines her, he finds her guilt stems from the thought that she may have killed her husband.

"Knight's Acre" by Norah Lofts. Sir Godfrey Tallboys goes to Spain to compete in a tournament and is captured by the Moors. With the aid of an Arab girl whom he saved from being flogged he begins a long and dangerous journey back to England.

"Murder on Board" by Agatha Christie. The mystery of the blue train. What Mrs. McGillicuddy saw! Death in the air.

"The Massacre at Fall Creek" by Jessamyn West. Fictional account of the 1824 massacre of nine Indian men, women and children by four white men.

"The Other Room" by Borden Deal. A story about the coming of age of the younger son of a tenant farmer during the depression, telling of his close family ties, his first love, his affair with a school teacher and the sudden death of his father.

"Glory and the Lightning" by Taylor Caldwell. An historical novel based on the life of Aspasia, the beautiful and intelligent wife of Pericles, and on life in Athens during the Age of Pericles.

NON-FICTION
"How to Adopt a Child" by Robert Farmer. A guide for the layman on adoption in the United States.

MRS. JAMES D. EDWARDS

Couple pledge vows

A noon breakfast at the PNA Lodge in Belleville followed the Aug. 2 marriage of Lillian Ann Mull and James Douglas Edwards. The couple repeated their wedding vows in a 10:30 a.m. ceremony conducted by The Rev. Raymond Skoney.

Mum plants graced the altar and Laurie Ackron was organist for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Mull of 46660 Judd Road, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. James T. Edwards of 46027 Reed Road, Belleville, are parents of the young couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of bridal satin fashioned with a high neckline and long full sleeves. The bodice was designed with alternating rows of tufting and lace which matched the deep cuffs on the sleeves.

Her illusion veil, which drifted to elbow length, was secured by a lace cap and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

The five attendants were in identically styled gowns and white picture hats. Made with long sleeves, high necklines and straight skirts, the dresses were complimented by bouquets of daisies to match their frocks.

Leona Kulhulwick of Ellsworth, Mich. was in-pale blue for her role as maid of honor. Linda McCarthy of Belleville wore yellow; Linda Jones of Belleville, green; Shelly Ciereszewski of Carleton, the bride's cousin, in yellow and Bridget Radisovich of Belleville, green.

Eight-year old Donna Ferguson was dressed as a miniature bride while Christopher Ostrowski, also eight, was a junior duplicate of the bridegroom. Flowergirl in a yellow ensemble was 5-year old Audra Chase.

The bridegroom's brother-in-law, Walter Metcalf of Pontiac, served as best man. Ushers were Tim Ciereszewski of Carleton, a cousin of the bride, and Anthony Ostrowski, Kevin Ealey and Michael Beaudrie, all of Belleville.

For the occasion Mrs. Mull donned a long pale orchid gown to which she pinned her corsage of baby roses. A similar corsage was presented to the bridegroom's mother who wore a green formal gown.

The wedding reception took place at 6:30 p.m. at the PNA Lodge after which the newlyweds drove to Canada for a 2-week honeymoon.

She attended Belleville High School and he Milan High School. He currently is employed by the St. Regis Paper Co. in Ypsilanti.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at their home on Reed Road.

Quotes worth quoting--

"The true test of civilization is not the census nor the size of cities and crops, — no, but the kind of man the country turns out."

Cub Scouts to man booth at 4-H Fair

Members of Cub Scout Pack 1071 of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville will be at their regular station during the 4-H Fair Aug. 12-19. Their refreshment stand (located in the building across from the dining hall) will include hot dogs, cold drinks, ice cream and potato chips.

The boys also will hold a special raffle for two 10-speed Huffy bicycles. Second- and third-place prizes will be a tape record and miscellaneous items. Tickets are being sold for 25 cents each or five for $1 and may be purchased at the cub booth.

Hedges announce troth

Mr. and Mrs. Clay W. Hedges of Leawood, Kan. announce the marriage of their daughter, Nancy S. Hedges of Strongsville, Ohio, to John S. Truxell of Plymouth, Mich. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Truxell of Naples, Fla.

The Rev. Dwight Murphy read the 11 p.m. rite before a small group of relatives and close friends July 31 at Wesley United Methodist Church in Whitmore Lake.

Nancy chose a former college friend, Susan Mishlan of North Olmstead, Ohio, to be her maid of honor. Richard Surfus of Fenton was best man.

Following a reception at the Ann Arbor Town Club, the newlyweds spent a few days in northern Michigan after which they took up residence on Holly Drive in Plymouth.

The bridegroom's parents are former Belleville residents.

Silver wedding party surprise for Oakleys

A surprise party honoring the silver wedding anniversary of William and Mary Oakley recently was held at the VFW Hall in Romulus. The couple's four children, William Jr. of Midland and Sheila, Lisa and Brian, at home, were the party planners and hosts.

The July 11 party caught the Oakleys completely unaware since they had observed the occasion quietly on the actual date, June 10. But since Mrs. Oakley's sister and husband, Lucia and George Sahagian, were expected in from New York City at the later date, the party was held off until their arrival. Others congratulating the couple at the dinner-dance were from Wayne, Dearborn, Northville, Detroit, Belleville and Romulus.

Highlighting the festivities was an exact duplicate of the couple's wedding cake. Using photographs supplied by the Oakley children, Bea Landis of Romulus created the confection "to a tee."

The Oakleys reside at 9875 Tobine Road, Romulus. A life-long resident, Bill is a Romulus

City councilman, a member of the Romulus Rotary Club and is self-employed as a general contractor. He and his wife are members of the United Community Methodist Church and she is affiliated with the Romulus Literary Club.

Mrs. Oakley was Mary Mardirosian of Wayne when she became a bride in 1950. The couple, married at the Community Methodist Church of Romulus, have made their home in Romulus all 25 years of their marriage.
